Carol Lebeau Joins San Diego Woman!

Former News 10 News Anchor Carol Lebeau joins Award Winning Woman's Publication

(SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA) – Carol Lebeau, renowned News Anchor for Channel 10 News in San Diego has announced her upcoming venture as a columnist for San Diego Woman Magazine. In Carol's new column "Transitions," she will be discussing life after retiring from a news career spanning over 30 years, along with highlighting her current endeavors, and how she views life from the other side of the news desk.

San Diego Woman is an award winning publication which focuses on informing, entertaining and featuring the women of San Diego. Carol was one of many local women who served as cover girl in a previous issue, which highlighted her rise to fame and the obstacles she was forced to overcome including the suicide death of her mom, her own battles with depression, and her struggles to remove the stigma associated with mental illness. Her numerous charities have helped to shape who she is and how she views life and is called upon often to serve as Emcee and Keynote speaker at functions all over town. Carol is tireless in her efforts to help those that she can, in whatever way she can. In her column she will keep us all up to date on the latest and most important events in her life and the lives of those around her.

San Diego Woman is a bi-monthly women's magazine distributed throughout all areas of San Diego. Each issue is read by over 60,000 women in the area. San Diego Woman also distributes a bi-weekly newsletter, keeping our readers up to date on events, features, and important news that may occur between issues.
